

Cambridge are pennant winners

19 Nov 2006

Cambridge won the elite men's coxed four at the Fours Head on Saturday 18 November.

Thorsten Engelmann, Sebastian Schulte, Kieran West and Tom James, coxed by Dennis Casey, came in ahead of a field which included a top-flight Leander Club crew amongst others.

Their finishing time was 18 minutes 22.23 seconds over a course which is the reverse of the course to be faced by both Universities when the Boat Race takes place next April, sponsored by Xchanging.

In the Fours Head, crews compete from Chiswick Bridge to Putney Bridge.

Oxford, competing as Isis, also took third and fourth place in this event.

Meanwhile, two former Light Blues were pennant winners in the elite men's four race. Josh West and Tom Stallard teamed-up with James Orme (former Goldie) and Richard Egington to take the title for Leander.

Isis were second in this event and Cambridge were third.
